	15 June 1994	CRC/C/IRQ/CO/2-4 4 February 2015 http://tbinternet.ohchr.org/_layouts/treatybodyexternal/Download.aspx?symbolno=CRC%2fC%2fIRQ%2fCO%2f2-4&Lang=en IV. Main areas of concern and recommendations A. General measures of implementation (arts. 4, 42 and 44, para. 6, of the Convention) The Committee's previous recommendations 7. The Committee urges the State party to take all necessary measures to address its previous recommendations (CRC/C/15/Add.94 of 1998) that have not been implemented or sufficiently implemented and, in particular, reiterates its recommendations to the State party to: ... (d) Review the system of data collection with a view to incorporating all the areas covered by the Convention. Such a system should include all children, with specific emphasis on those in vulnerable situations, including those who are victims of abuse or ill-treatment, child workers, children involved with the administration of juvenile justice, the girl child, children of single-parent families and children born out of wedlock, abandoned and/or institutionalized children, and children with disabilities (para. 12); ...

		D. Violence against children (arts. 19, 24, para.3, 28, para. 2, 34, 37 (a) and 39) Corporal punishment 38. The Committee is concerned that children are routinely subjected to corporal punishment in the State party and that corporal punishment remains lawful in schools, in alternative care settings, and that while it is prohibited in detention and prison facilities, it is not explicitly prohibited in other institutions accommodating children in conflict with the law, including the Surveillance Centre, the Rehabilitation School for Preadolescents, the Rehabilitation Centre for Adolescents and the Juvenile Rehabilitation Centre. The Committee furthermore notes with concern that corporal punishment remains lawful in the home and that a husband has the legal right to discipline his wife by beating according to article 41 of the Penal Code (Act No. 111 (1969)). 39. With reference to general comment No. 8 (2006) on protection from corporal punishment, the Committee urges the State party to explicitly prohibit corporal punishment in all settings and to: <ul style="list-style-type: none">(a) Ensure that laws prohibiting corporal punishment are effectively implemented and that legal proceedings are promptly initiated and systematically conducted against those responsible of mistreating children; and(b) Introduce sustained public education, awareness-raising and social mobilization programmes, involving children, families, communities and religious leaders, on both the physical and psychological harmful effects of corporal punishment with a view to changing the attitude towards this practice and promote positive, non-violent and participatory forms of child-rearing and discipline. E. Family environment and alternative care (arts. 5, 9-11, 18 (paras. 1 and 2), 20-21, 25 and 27 (para. 4)) Family environment 50. The Committee is concerned that polygamy and repudiation remain legal in the State party, which is contrary to the dignity of women and girls and which negatively affects their children. The Committee is particularly concerned that:

		(a) Negative gender stereotypes persist concerning the tasks and roles of women and girls, especially in the family and that widowed and divorced women face severe discrimination, impacting on their children, including discrimination in obtaining official documents and accessing government aid; and (b) Mothers are considered as the “physical” but not the legal custodian of their children and that women are granted custody only until the child is 10 years of age with rare exceptions. 51. The Committee urges the State party to ensure that all provisions that discriminate against women and hence negatively impact on their children, such as those which authorize polygamy and repudiation, be repealed without delay. The Committee furthermore calls upon the State party to: (a) Ensure that mothers and fathers equally share the legal responsibility for their children in accordance with article 18, paragraph 1, of the Convention; and (b) Eliminate all forms of discrimination against single women, including widows and divorced women, and provide them and their children with increased protection. The Committee also urges the State party to provide female heads of households with sufficient financial support, and ensure their access to health and social security. Children deprived of a family environment 52. The Committee is extremely concerned about the significant number of children, who have been forcibly separated from their parents during displacement, or because their parents have been forced to leave them with the so-called ISIL under threat of death of the child. The Committee is also concerned about the high number of children who have lost their families during the many years of conflict and the lack of measures and strategies to provide these children with protection and alternative care, in particular foster care. 53. The Committee recommends that the State party as a matter of urgency: (a) take all necessary measures to free children who have been captured by the so-called ISIL, reunite them with their family and provide them with all necessary physical and psychological health care; (b) Strengthen its alternative care programme, particularly foster care, and ensure that adequate human, technical and financial resources are allocated to alternative care centres and

		relevant child protection services, in order to facilitate the rehabilitation and social reintegration of children resident therein to the greatest extent possible. 54. The Committee is concerned about the consequences of the criminalization of sexual relations outside of marriage by article 377 of the Penal Code (Act No. 111 (1969)), which bears the danger of abandonment or killing of babies born out of these relations. The Committee is also deeply concerned at the social rejection and stigmatization of single mothers in the State party, and at the serious consequences of their social rejection on their children. 55. The Committee urges the State party to repeal article 377 of the Penal Code and to prevent abandonment or killing of children born out of wedlock: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> (a) Provide unmarried mothers with the necessary support to enable them to take care of their children; (b) Develop and implement a policy to protect the rights of pregnant teenagers, adolescent mothers and their children; (c) Combat and eliminate the stigma attached to out-of-wedlock pregnancy; and (d) Foster responsible parenthood and sexual behaviour, with particular attention to awareness-raising among boys and men. H. Special protection measures (arts. 22, 30, 32-33, 35-36, 37 (b)-(d), 38, 39 and 40) Children in street situations 82. The Committee is very concerned about the high number of children, including a high rate of internally displaced children, living and/or working in the streets, where they are exposed to various crimes, including sexual violence and abuse, drugs as well as used by criminal gangs. 83. The Committee recommends that the State party develop a national strategy to support children in street situations and ensure their access to adequate nutrition, clothing, housing and educational opportunities, including vocational and life-skill training. Furthermore, the Committee recommends that the State party:

		(a) Promote and implement programmes aimed at the physical and psychological recovery and social reintegration of children in street situations, and facilitate, whenever possible, reunification with their families; (b) Ensure the access of children in street situations to drug dependence treatment, and place particular focus on the protection of children in street situations from sexual exploitation and abuse; and (c) Collaborate with NGOs working with children in street situations and children themselves and seek technical assistance from, among others, UNICEF. Sale, trafficking and abduction 84. The Committee is deeply concerned that internal displacement and sectarian violence have also led to a significant increase of trafficking, with many children being trafficked, in particular for the purpose of sexual exploitation and domestic servitude, but also for the purpose of forced labour or services, slavery or similar practices and servitude, both within the country as well as to Lebanon, Jordan, Kuwait, the United Arab Emirates, Turkey, Iran, Yemen, and Saudi Arabia. The Committee is also particularly concerned about reports of children being trafficked from orphanages by employees for the purpose of forced prostitution. 85. The Committee urges the State party to combat trafficking in children for sexual and other exploitative purpose, and to: (a) Ensure that perpetrators are systematically prosecuted and punished and that children who have become victims of trafficking are never treated as criminals; (b) Implement appropriate policies and programmes for the physical and mental recovery of child victims as well as for their social reintegration; (c) Carry out awareness-raising activities in order to make both children and families aware of the dangers of both internal and external trafficking and on protection measures, and encourage victims and witnesses to report; (d) Continue and strengthen international cooperation in order to address the root causes of sale and trafficking of children.

Prohibition and related matters Recruitment and use of children by non-State armed groups 31. The Committee is seriously concerned about the large number of children recruited by non-State armed groups, in particular by the so-called ISIL and Al Qaida in Iraq, especially children in vulnerable situations such as refugee children, children with disabilities, children who have lost their parents, children in street situations, and children from Syria and Turkey, as well as from other States, who enter the State party via the Turkish border. The Committee expresses its deepest concern about: ... 32. The Committee strongly urges the State party to take all necessary measures to eliminate all forms of recruitment and use of children and in particular to: (a) Ensure that all forms of child recruitment or use of children in armed conflict, and any form of aiding and abetting recruitment and use, including by kidnapping or sale, be thoroughly investigated, prosecuted and punished; Disarmament, demobilization and reintegration 35. The Committee notes with gravest concern that a significant number of children remain under the control of armed groups, where they are furthermore subjected to a variety of violations and the Convention and the Optional Protocols. 36. The Committee urges the State party to secure the release and demobilization of all child abductees and combatants. The Committee calls upon the State party to develop as quickly as possible a long-term and comprehensive programme of assistance, rehabilitation, reintegration and reconciliation, that takes into account, in particular, specific needs of children in vulnerable situations;

Specific rights (arts. 5–30) Children with disabilities (art. 7) 15. The Committee is concerned about: <ul style="list-style-type: none">(a) The absence of information whether the draft Child Rights Bill and the national policy for the protection of children’s rights reflect all rights of children with disabilities in line with the Convention;(b) A large number of children with disabilities, particularly children with disabilities living in regions of the State party impacted by armed conflicts, children with disabilities who are internally displaced, children with psychosocial or intellectual disabilities, and children with disabilities living in rural areas, face violations of their rights, such as lack of access to services and loss of educational opportunities;(c) The lack of information on mechanisms for children with disabilities, to express their views regarding all matters affecting them. 16. The Committee recommends that the State party: <ul style="list-style-type: none">(a) Mainstream disability rights in national legislation, strategies and action plans for children;(b) Ensure that children with disabilities enjoy all rights under the Convention and address stigma and discrimination against, and stereotypes that are harmful to, children with disabilities, particularly children with disabilities facing multiple and intersectional forms of discrimination;(c) Promote the full participation of children with disabilities in consultations, decision-making processes and policy development, through representative organizations of persons with disabilities.

		Liberty and security of the person (art. 14) 27. The Committee is concerned that: <ul style="list-style-type: none">(a) Article 105 of the Penal Code No. 111 (1969) and articles 7 and 8 of the Law No. 1 on Mental Health (2005) provide a legal basis for confining persons with intellectual or psychosocial disabilities in hospitals without their consent, and the absence of statistical data on the number of persons with disabilities deprived of their liberty, and the reasons and legal basis thereof, as well as on the number of persons with disabilities deprived of their liberty in family settings;(b) The information is limited on the measures taken by the State party to ensure that the rights of persons with disabilities, who are deprived of their liberty in detention centres, are guaranteed, including the rights enshrined in the Prisoners and Detainees Reform Act No. 14 (2018) and the reasonable accommodation of persons with disabilities in line with Article 15 (6) (a) of Act No. 38 (2013), and whether complaint mechanisms are accessible to them. 28. The Committee recommends, in line with its guidelines on the right to liberty and security of persons with disabilities (see A/72/55, annex I), that the State party: <ul style="list-style-type: none">(a) Repeal all legislation that allows for the deprivation of liberty on the basis of actual or perceived impairment, further develop recovery-oriented and community-based rehabilitation services for persons with psychosocial or intellectual disabilities, and establish complaint mechanisms that are accessible to persons with disabilities in case of a violation of their right to liberty and security;(b) Take all necessary steps to ensure that the denial of reasonable accommodation is recognized as discrimination on the basis of disability and ensure the provision of individualized supports and procedural accommodation to persons with disabilities suspected of having committed a crime, including during detention. Freedom from torture and cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment (art. 15) 30. The Committee recommends that the State party:
--	--	--

		(a) Ratify the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and establish a national preventive mechanism with a mandate to monitor institutions and other places of detention; (b) Establish monitoring mechanisms to prevent torture and cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment in all settings where persons with disabilities are deprived of their liberty, including psychiatric hospitals, prisons, hospices, rehabilitation centers and care homes, as well as a complaint mechanism accessible to persons with disabilities, investigate, prosecute and sanction any such cases, and support victims by providing legal advice, information in accessible formats, counselling and redress, including compensation and rehabilitation; ... Liberty of movement and nationality (art. 18) 33. The Committee is concerned that not all children with disabilities are registered at birth and are thus at risk of being stateless, particularly children who were born in the State party to foreign nationals, or to unknown parents and in regions that have been subject to armed conflict. 34. The Committee recommends that the State party allocate the necessary human, technical and financial resources to continue its efforts to register all children with disabilities and to prevent their statelessness. Respect for home and the family (art. 23) 41. The Committee is concerned about restrictions to the rights of persons with disabilities related to marriage, family, and parenthood, such as those enshrined in article 7 of the Personal Status Law No. 188 (1959). 42. The Committee recommends that the State party: (a) Amend or repeal legislation that prevents persons with disabilities from exercising their right to marriage and parenthood on an equal basis with others; (b) Adopt measures to support parents with disabilities to raise their children at home and to eliminate social stigma against persons with disabilities regarding marriage and parenthood.
